HIGHEST TOTAL WINS IN UNIQUE 'DICE-BACCARAT' GAME

Developed for players looking for speed and endless excitement, Bac Bo is a unique, all-new dice game with many similarities to Baccarat and a great Tie bet that pays up to 88:1 your wager!

Instead of using cards, in Bac Bo both the Player's and Banker's score is made up of the sum of two dice, automatically shaken in four individual shakers, two for each hand. Banker and Player both roll their pair of dice, and the resulting two numbers are added together. The highest two-dice total wins.

Created by Evolution, this exclusive game combines the elegant flow and excitement of a 'come from behind win' that makes Baccarat so popular – but with the visual excitement of a dice game. Bac Bo is also endlessly engaging, since there's no card shoe change and no reset of the game history.

Bac Bo is exciting and easy to understand for all players. It has easier to follow rules and gameplay compared with Baccarat, with just the outcome of the simple dice rolls to consider.

KEY BENEFITS

HOW TO PLAY

Bac Bo is played with four dice: two for the Player and two for the Banker. Each die is placed in an individual automatic shaker recessed into the surface of the gaming table.

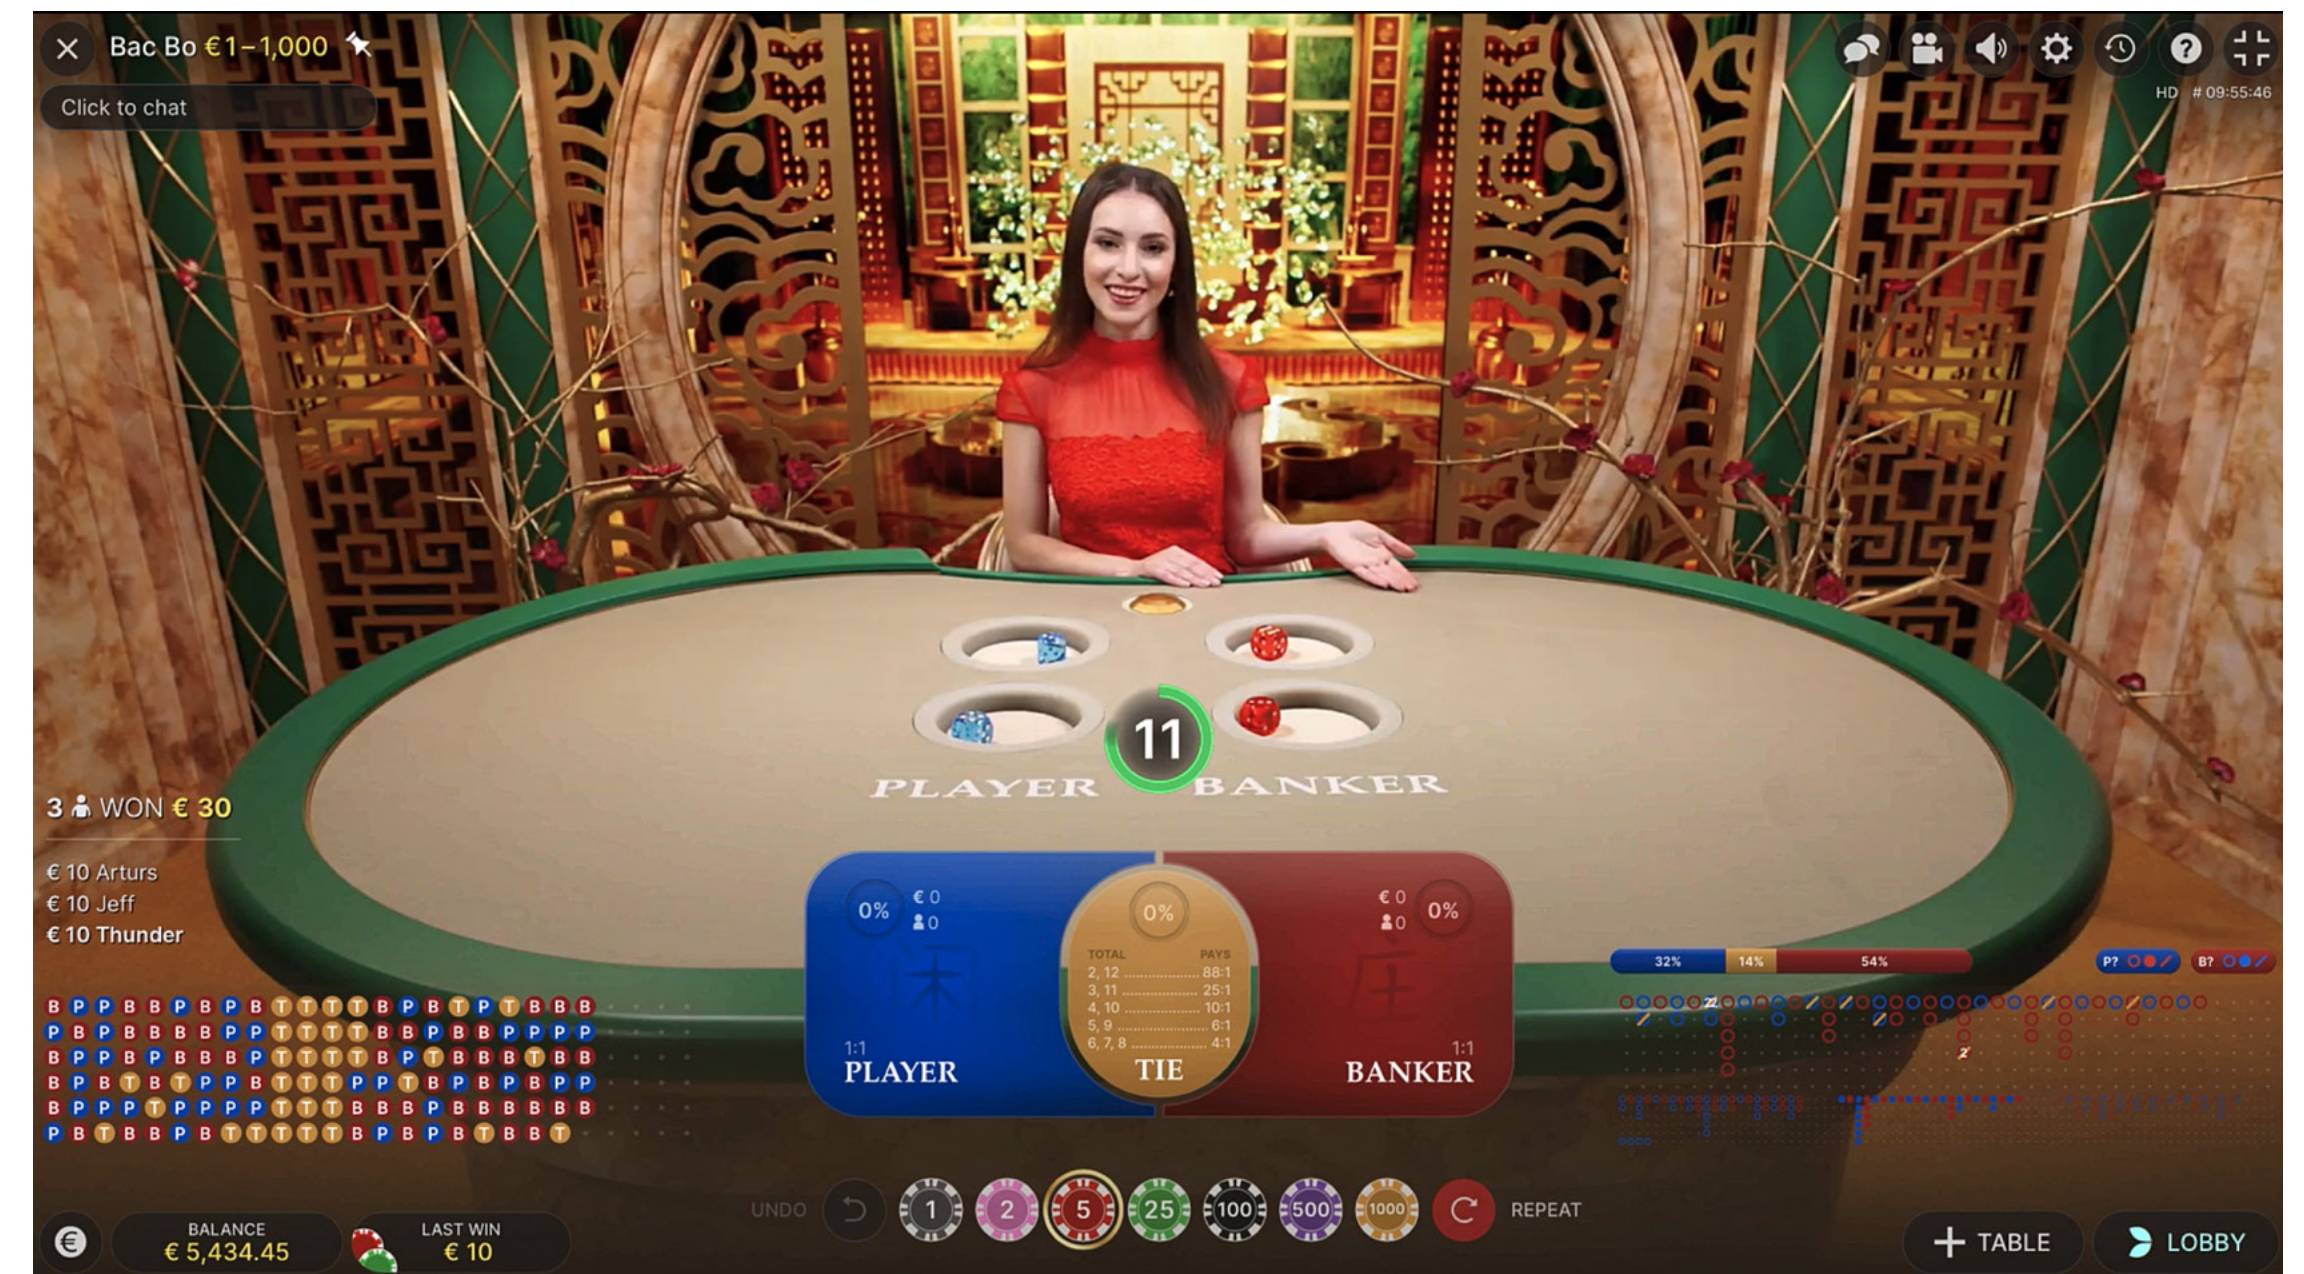

During betting time, all dice start shaking at once. The dice come to a stop at different times, making the game more exciting and increasing player engagement.

When the last of the four dice has come to rest, the winner is declared.

PLACE A BET

The objective of the game is to predict which hand will win by having the highest two-dice total. You can bet on Player, Banker and Tie.

Adding even more interest, the user interface lets you see the payouts for different results of the exciting Tie bet with its payouts of up to 88:1.

THE DICE SHAKE

During betting time, all four dice will start to shake at once. They then come to rest in the following order:

The Player's first die will stop first.

The Banker's first die stops second and we can now see who has the highest score at this point.

If the Player has the highest value after the first dice shake, the Player's second die will stop next. Likewise, if the Banker has the highest value after the first dice shake, the Banker's second die will stop next. If the Player's and Banker's dice are equal, then the Player's die will stop next.

Excitement builds throughout with all scores updated in the user interface as each dice shake stops. The anticipation peaks when the third dice shake has stopped and it becomes clear what is needed on the fourth and final shake to achieve a win or a tie.

THE RESULT

When all four dice have stopped shaking, the final result is displayed on the screen. The highest two-dice total wins.

If the result is a Tie, there are several different payouts depending on the tied dice result. For example, if the Player's and Banker's dice rolls both total 12 or 2, the payout on the Tie bet is 88:1. Other tie totals pay different odds from 4:1 upwards.

LIVE BETTING STATISTICS

Shows the percentages of all bets placed on Player, Banker or Tie.

GAME RESULT STATISTICS

The Game Result Statistics display how many per cent of the 50 most recent games resulted in Player wins, Banker wins or ended with a Tie.

ROAD PROBING TABLE

Displays the icon that will be added to the three derived roads if the next round is won by the Banker or the Player.

BEAD ROAD

Each cell represents the result of a past round, with the oldest result in the upper left corner. A red cell indicates a Banker win, a blue cell a Player win, and a gold cell a Tie. Click to change display from English to Simplified Chinese or Score Mode.

DERIVED ROADS

Big Eye Road, Small Road and Cockroach Road are included to display patterns derived from past results recorded in the Big Road.

BIG ROAD

The result of the earliest round is recorded in the upper left corner. A new column is created each time the Banker's winning streak changes in favour of the Player, or vice versa.
